

Environmental Protection Agency Internet Information

EPA Region 2

While Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) requests will be honored by directly writing to Region 2, EPA provides an increasing amount of environmental media information, and other Regional activities via Internet at <http://www.epa.gov>.

Region 2 has provided a FOIA Web site <http://www.epa.gov/region02/foia/> with several online databases from which the environmental information can be retrieved.

- “Frequently FOIAed Files” Web site <http://www.epa.gov/region02/foia/fff.htm> covers RCRA and many other media Programs. Through this Web site, you can learn about each media Program, associated databases, and special points of interest. In particular, the ability to “directly download” all of the most commonly requested Region 2 Export Files (.xls) and Reports (.pdf) - all compressed for quicker downloading.

EPA Region 2 has established a list of contaminated facilities that are a high priority for cleanup in New York, New Jersey, Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands. You can view each facility fact sheet at <http://www.epa.gov/region02/cleanup/sites/>

EPA- Headquarters

- Envirofacts Data Warehouse Web site <http://www.epa.gov/enviro/index.html> is a one-stop source to the environmental information. This Web site provides access to several EPA databases with information about environmental activities that may affect air, water and land anywhere in the United States.
- “My Environment” Web site <http://www.epa.gov/myenvironment> is a powerful tool that provides a wide range of federal, state and local information about environmental conditions and futures in an area of your choice.
- The Enforcement and Compliance History Online (ECHO) Web site <http://www.epa.gov/echo/> provides a list of all inspections and enforcement under most of the environmental statutes.
- Right-To-Know Network (RTK Net), a non-EPA Web site <http://www.rtknet.org/> on-line query engine provides free access to numerous databases and resources on environment.
- National Biennial RCRA Hazardous Waste Report Web site <http://www.epa.gov/epaoswer/hazwaste/data/biennialreport/index.htm> provides documents and data on hazardous waste reports.
- Conditionally Exempt Small Quantity Generators Web site <http://www.epa.gov/osw/hazard/generation/cesqg.htm> provides information on Conditionally Exempt Small Quantity Generators.

ANALYSIS OF THE CULTURE AND INFLUENCE

OF THE CHINESE

The Chinese have been described as a people who are "content with their lot" and "have no desire for change." They are said to be "contented with their lot" because they are satisfied with their way of life, which is based on traditional values and customs.

They are said to have "no desire for change" because they are content with their way of life and do not feel the need to make changes.

However, it is important to note that while the Chinese may be content with their way of life, they are not necessarily stagnant or unchanging. In fact, the Chinese culture has a rich history of innovation and adaptation, particularly in the fields of science, technology, and philosophy.

For example, the Chinese have made significant contributions to the development of mathematics, astronomy, and medicine. They have also developed unique philosophies such as Confucianism and Taoism, which have influenced not only Chinese culture but also cultures around the world.

It is also important to note that the Chinese culture is highly influenced by its environment, particularly the natural environment. The Chinese believe in the interconnectedness of all things and the importance of living in harmony with nature.

For example, the Chinese have a long history of practicing agriculture and have developed unique techniques for growing crops in difficult environments. They also have a deep respect for the natural world and believe in the importance of preserving it for future generations.

Overall, the Chinese culture is a complex and fascinating one, with a rich history and a unique perspective on the world. While it may be content with its way of life, it is not stagnant or unchanging, and continues to influence and inspire people around the world.

It is also important to note that the Chinese culture is highly influenced by its environment, particularly the natural environment. The Chinese believe in the interconnectedness of all things and the importance of living in harmony with nature.

For example, the Chinese have a long history of practicing agriculture and have developed unique techniques for growing crops in difficult environments. They also have a deep respect for the natural world and believe in the importance of preserving it for future generations.
